Alfred grew up on the Red Canyon Ranch in Shell, WY along with his two brothers. In his younger years, Alfred enjoyed 4-H, FFA, and showing steers. He once won a tractor driving contest at the Wyoming State Fair.

After graduating he continued to work at the Red Canyon ranch until 1984 and then drove Truck for Bryant Inc. In 1986, he joined his father at AC Supply in Basin, later transitioning with his father in the operations of J&E Irrigation in 1998 and further becoming the owner. In 2000 he became a Reinke pivot dealer, earning excellence awards for numerous years, as well as earning the largest parts sales increase in North America.

Alfred began his lifetime of volunteer work when he first served with the Shell Fire Department for 10 years. The Big Horn County Fair Board was a major part of this work for 23 years, where he spent numerous hours on the arena project and moving it forward to better the fair. In addition, he was very dedicated to the youth of Big Horn County with his support at the Junior Livestock Sale. Alfred was a lifetime member of the Elks Club.

Alfred was an irrigation specialist, and many friends and customers relied on his knowledge. He knew every road and history of all the land in the Big Horn Basin. In 2012, Alfred and Darla built their dream home in the Scharen subdivision. He took great pride in perfecting the landscape, making sure the grass was green and well irrigated. He loved growing a large garden and sharing his bountiful harvest. You could always find him cruising in his "buggy" overseeing the subdivision until his health started to decline. He enjoyed spending numerous hours keeping the subdivision roads graded, clear of snow, and maintaining the irrigation system. He enjoyed camping in the Bighorn Mountains with his family. Whenever you saw Alfred, his dogs were by his side. Alfred had a great passion for sports including NFL football, Nascar, and Basketball. Early on Sunday mornings, you would find Alfred sending his weekly text updates to a special cousin Jay Terrett and longtime friend Rob McDougal.
